To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Jeremy Huddleston, Software Development Instructor, TrueCoders. I have been teaching many years at this school. I first met Warren Tran when he joined my Software Development class that I teach for TrueCoders. In the beginning of class, Warren learned about Git and GitHub.com, C# utilizing Microsoft's .NET Framework. Later in class, we discussed MySQL database management, APIs, along with a general overview of HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Finally, we concluded class by learning about ASP.NET Core MVC.

Warren is the youngest person (14-year-old, 8th grader) in history in this class and he was a very enthusiastic learner throughout our time in class. I could tell he already had a solid understanding of programming from previous experience. He was dedicated in finishing his assignments and working diligently to improve his skills. I'm certain this characteristic would continue to be reflected in his later endeavors, including further education and employment. He possesses the desire to continue learning and working to hone his knowledge as a developer.

I believe that Warren can be successful at anything that he pursues. His strong work ethic and dedication to his passion make him a valuable asset for any institution or organization that he joins.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Huddleston
